Sheriffs, Judges Reach Accord

COURT SECURITY GUIDELINES RECOMMENDED

It's hard for people in Ada County to ignore the issue of court security. That's because they can't enter the Ada County Courthouse without passing through a full-size metal detector, just like those found at most of the nation's airports. While no one's likely to hijack the County Court Building, a growing number of violent incidents in the nation's courtrooms has made judges and court officials everywhere more concerned about preventing violent confrontations.

During 1987, a committee of sheriffs and judges agreed on a number of recommendations which promise to improve court security in state courthouses. Those recommendations also put an end to a minor turf battle, and strengthened a partnership between judges and local law enforcement personnel, bringing security in Idaho courthouses more in line with modern-day needs.

Turf Battle Erupts

A number of forces had combined to make the provision of court security services a public issue in Idaho in 1987. Reflecting concerns in other states about adequate security in state court facilities, a number of courts had hired, or were considering hiring, independent court security staff, sometimes called "marshals," or "bailiffs." These new court personnel brought with them the need for professional law enforcement training, as well as concerns about liability.

At the same time, county sheriffs were perceiving expansions in court security personnel as an encroachment on their bona fide law enforcement responsibilities. The use of court marshals to serve warrants and make arrests outside of county courthouses was viewed by some as a threat to the constitutional authority of the sheriff.

Statewide Committee

In June of 1987, Idaho Attorney General Jim Jones offered an opinion on the situation. He found that, while sheriffs have the primary responsibility to provide security services to the courts, judges also have a role, and recommended that court and county officials work on legislation to define responsibilities and satisfy liability concerns. Sheriffs and judges agreed. "There are no clear cut lines of authority or responsibility," said Ada County Sheriff Vaughn

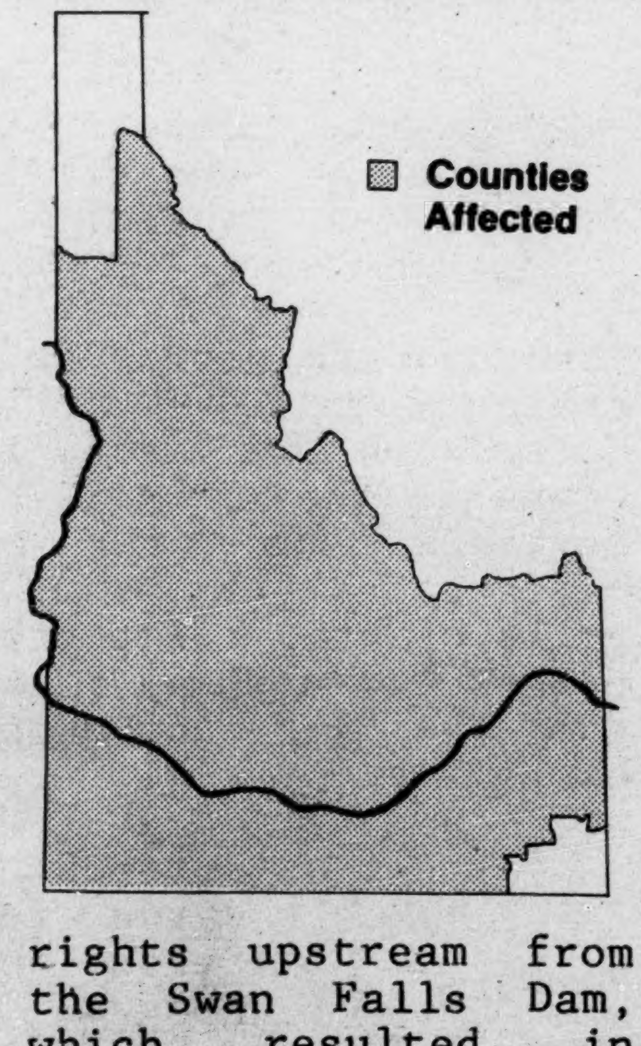
District Judge Order Kicks Off Water Rights Contest

SNAKE RIVER CASE LAUNCHED



When Fifth District Judge Daniel C. Hurlbutt signed an order on November 19, 1987, it wasn't routine: the order began arguably the largest, most complex and expensive proceeding in state court history. Called a "commencement order," it gave notice that the state courts would begin determining all of the water rights connected with the Snake River and its tributaries--water systems which touch 38 of Idaho's 44 counties, and comprise 43 separate sub basins.

The Snake River water rights case, technically called an "adjudication," grew out of a 1985 agreement between the state and Idaho Power Company, over water rights upstream from the Swan Falls Dam, which resulted in legislation mandating the proceeding. The Snake River is the lifeblood of southern Idaho's heavily irrigated farm belt,

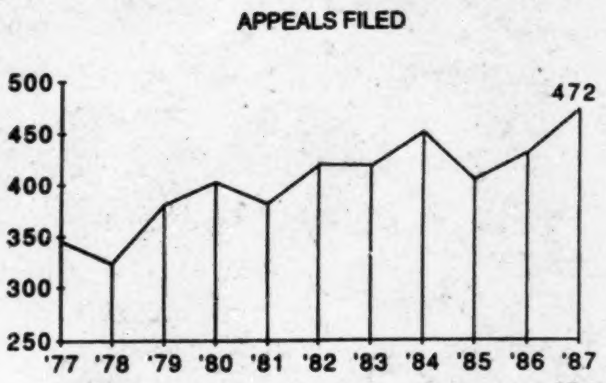
Work Up, Delays Down

APPELLATE FILINGS REACH RECORD LEVELS

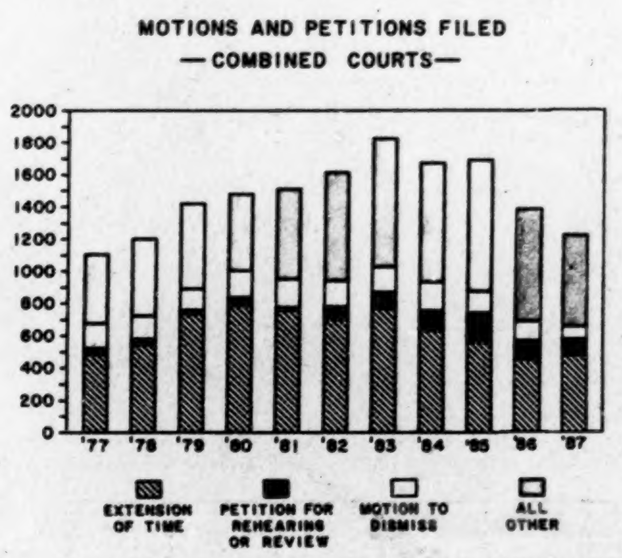
A benchmark for appellate filings was reached during calendar year 1987--a total of 472 new appeals were filed.

Since the middle 1970's, there has been a sustained growth in appellate filings. The 472 new filings reported during 1987, exceed the previous record--451--reported at the end of 1984, by nearly 5%. From just one year ago, filings have increased by nearly 10% over the number reported at the end of 1986.

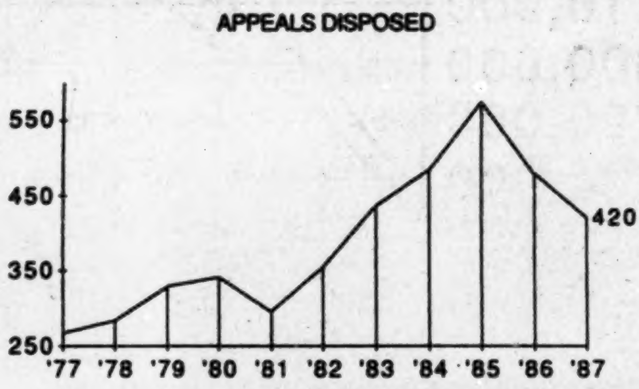
National research experts have reported that appellate filings are sensitive to fluctuations within the economy. Improvements in the economic picture, often signal increases in appellate filings, although the research reports a 2 to 4 year lag between economic improvement and appellate filing increases. If such research is valid, and if the state's economy continues to improve, Idaho may see future appellate filings at comparable levels to the record numbers reported during 1987.



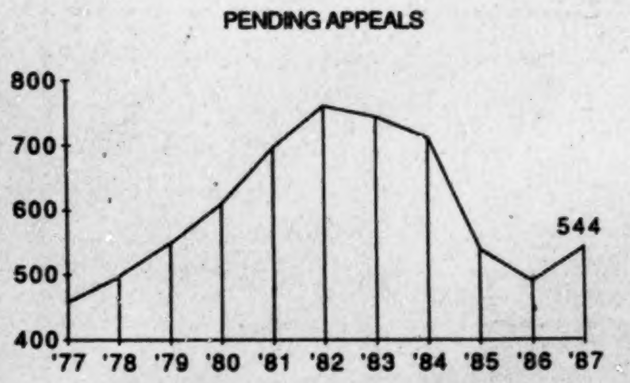
For the second consecutive year, petitions and motions decreased in 1987. During 1987, 1,316 new petitions and motions were filed with the appellate courts. The courts ultimately disposed of 1,323 petitions and motions. The number of petitions and motions filed during 1987 was 28.3% less than the 1983 record total of 1,836. Also filed with the court during 1987, were 24 original proceedings and 11 attorney discipline matters.



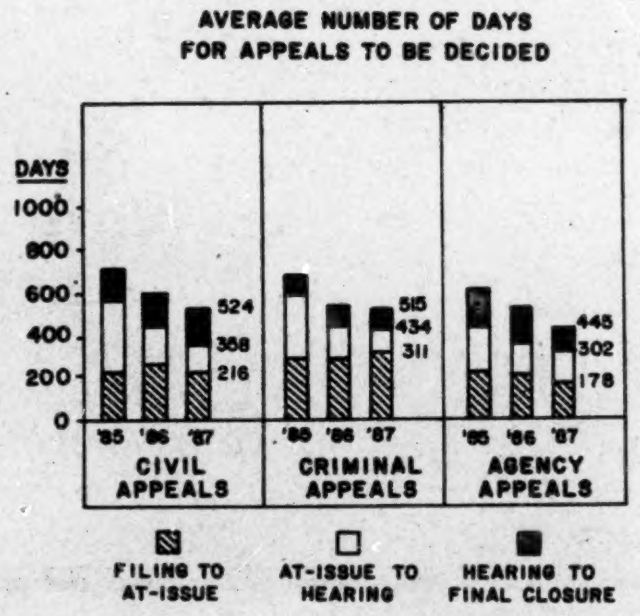
In calendar year 1987, the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals together disposed of 420 appeals. The Supreme Court disposed of 108 appeals by majority opinions, while the Court of Appeals disposed of 169 appeals by majority opinion.



In response to the record appellate filings reported during 1987, the total number of appeals pending before the Idaho appellate courts increased for the first time since 1982. At the end of 1986, there were 491 pending appeals. One year later, the number of pending appeals had increased to 544. Still, the number of pending appeals reported at the end of 1987 stands below the number recorded eight years ago.



In spite of the substantial increase in filings and commensurate rise in the pending caseload, litigants involved in appeals before the Idaho Supreme Court and Court of Appeals continued to see their appeals resolved in considerably less time. During 1987, it took an average of 551 days from the time an appeal was filed with the Supreme Court until it reached final disposition. Cases assigned to the Court of Appeals took an average of 493 days to reach final disposition. Overall, the Idaho appellate courts have cut appellate delay by almost a full year from 1984's average time of 872 days.



For the second year in a row, both Courts are current hearing oral arguments, and have eliminated totally the backlog of cases awaiting hearing. Once an appeal is fully briefed and ready to be argued, both the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals can immediately set that appeal for oral argument.

ON THE RECORD

"Most people come to court with a clear sense of right and wrong, but their arguments don't fit the law."

--Latah County Magistrate Judge William Hamlett, on the trials of a small claims judge.

"Because the people selected by the Magistrates Commission will spend their whole careers on the bench, they will spend more years in public service than most public servants, including the members of the Magistrates Commission. For that reason, it is of utmost importance that the Magistrates Commission select the best person for the job on a non-partisan, merit basis."

--Introduction to the Standards for Recruitment and Selection of Magistrate Judges.

"My only agenda is justice and the law."

--Supreme Court Justice Byron Johnson, on his appointment.

But Increase is Slight

TRIAL COURT FILINGS REACH NEW HIGH

With some sections of Idaho's economy showing signs of improvement, trial courts around the state of Idaho continue to report a booming business. Filings reported during calendar year 1987 reached the highest level in history--344,414 new cases.

While 1987 filings set a record, they were not much ahead of last year. Following a 4% rate of increase in 1986, new cases coming into the state courts increased by a mere 3/10ths of 1% in 1987, to 344,414, as compared with 343,171 new filings in 1986.

Growth Patterns Change

During the decade of the 1970's, new cases had been filed in the Idaho courts at an almost uniform 4-5% annual increase. State officials became accustomed to predictable growth and responded accordingly, by building new courtrooms and adding more judges to accommodate heavier workloads.

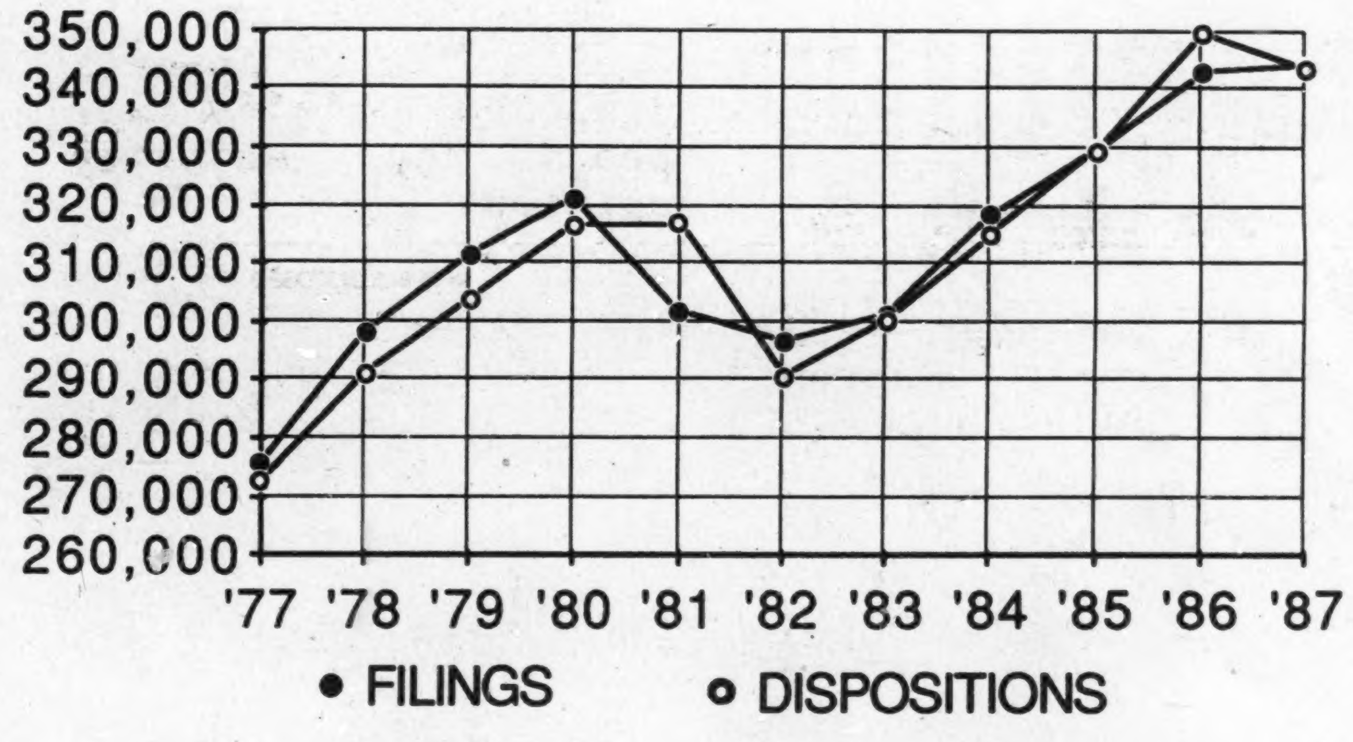
The growth in trial court business had a number of contributing factors during the 1970's including the sharp growth of Idaho's population and the increased number of attorneys admitted to practice. Between 1970 and 1980, the state's populations grew by 32% from 713,015 to 943,935, and the number of attorneys almost tripled, from about 600 to 1,540.

The substantial case filing increases reached their peak in 1980, when 321,517 cases were filed with the trial courts. However, trial court filings took a sharp turn down in 1981 and 1982. This significant decline in filings may have reflected the economic recession that struck Idaho in the early 1980's. This decline in filings only lasted two years and 1983 marked the beginning of a new trend of increased filings.

Since 1982, the trial courts have seen their filings increase each year: in 1982, only 296,733 cases were reported filed. But by 1987, that total had risen to 344,414 new cases, a 16% increase over the 1982 total.

While the trial court caseload increases of the 1970's took place during sharp population and economic growth, the increased filings reported since 1982 have come during a period when Idaho has actually lost population and has been suffering economic stagnation as a result of its resource-based economy. This suggests that court business is affected by more complex factors than just population and the state economy.

CASE FILINGS AND DISPOSITIONS IN TRIAL COURTS



Winners and Losers

Traffic cases (not including DUI) reached record levels during 1987. Calendar year 1980 held the previous record for traffic filings--218,373. At the end of 1987, a total of 220,293 traffic cases have been filed in the trial courts, representing an increase of 1,920 more traffic filings than the number reported at the end of 1980.

Civil filings in the district courts dropped off dramatically during 1987. At the end of 1986, district court civil filings were at record levels. However, in the 12 months since, district court civil filings are down by 6% or 344 filings. The number of district court civil cases stands at its lowest point this decade. This drop in civil filings runs counter to national experts who predicted record civil filings to continue through the end of the decade. As with the district court, civil filings in the magistrate division dropped for the second year in a row. At the end of 1987, a total of 45,073 civil matters had been filed with the magistrate division. That represents a drop of 4.8% from the number reported at the end of 1986.

Idaho's small claims departments also witnessed a substantial drop in the number of new complaints filed from the number reported at the end of 1986. A total of 15,643 small claims complaints were filed in 1987--a 10% decrease from the 1986 total of 17,366. Although Idaho does not allow attorneys or collection agencies to file small claims, small businesses and private individuals continue to utilize the small claims departments as a quick, inexpensive way to collect debts.

In spite of substantial drops in civil filings, overall district court caseloads continue to increase. During 1987, a total of 10,486 cases were filed in the district courts, as compared with 10,399 in 1986. The reason: criminal cases continue to rise. During 1987, a total of 4,996 criminal cases were filed with the district court, representing an increase of 9.3% over the number reported at the end of 1986. Two types of criminal cases which showed substantial increases: felony drug cases, which were up 32%, and felony DUI cases, up 92% over the number reported at the end of 1986.

Dispositions Fall

Following a year of intense efforts to clear calendars of cases that required little judicial involvement to resolve, the trial judges in the state of Idaho reported that their caseloads now included cases that required substantial judicial time and effort to conclude. As a result, trial court dispositions dropped from a high of 349,806 reported at the end of 1986, to 343,569 one year later.

Not unexpectedly, the number of cases pending in the trial courts increased by a slight 1.2% in 1987, to 47,343, from the 46,737 pending cases reported in 1986.

The average number of new cases filed per district judge in the state in 1987 was 317 cases, while the average for judges of the magistrate division was 4,770 new cases. This compares with new case filings in the prior year of 315 per district judge, and 4,754 new cases per magistrate judge. The district judges disposed an average of 332 cases per judge during the year, while the judges of the magistrate

DUI REPORT: FEWER CASES, MORE FELONIES

Fewer drunken driving cases came into the Idaho trial courts during 1987 than in 1986. Calendar year 1987 saw DUI filings drop 3% from 12,421 in 1986, to 12,008. Since the new DUI law was enacted in 1983, DUI cases had been declining until 1986, when there was an increase of 8% over the previous year. With 1987's decline, court officials are hopeful that the sharp rise in DUI filings in 1986 did not indicate a long-term trend.

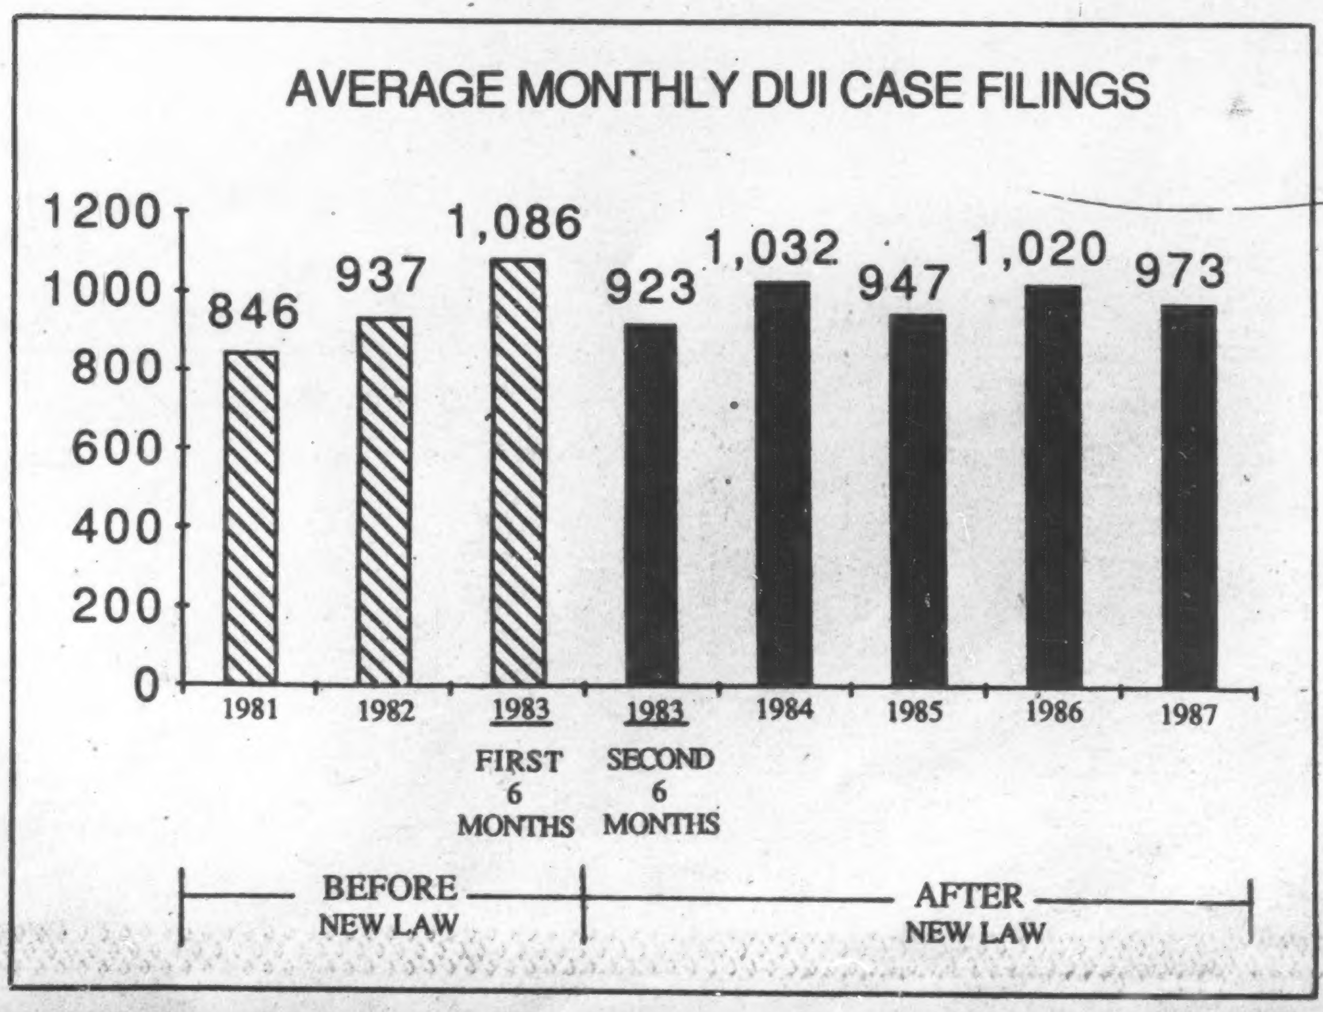
The "New" DUI Law

In 1983, the Idaho Legislature passed a "tough" new law to deter drunken driving. Immediately after the new law took effect on July 1, 1983, DUI charges dropped sharply statewide, offering hope that tougher sentences were discouraging drivers from drinking. Misdemeanor DUI complaints rebounded slightly in 1984 and again increased in 1986, but when adjusted for changes in the felony statutes, were still less than in pre-law (before the DUI law went into effect) days. In 1986, DUI complaints increased for the first time since the new law went into effect. This increase raised concerns as to whether the educational effort and increased activity of law enforcement was having a significant effect.

Felonies Way Up

The new DUI law allows prosecutors to upgrade a misdemeanor to a felony only when prior DUI convictions occurred after July 1, 1983. Thus, DUI defendants who might otherwise have been prosecuted on a felony charge, were given a clean slate as of that date. As a result, the number of DUI felony complaints first dropped dramatically beginning on July 1, 1983, to 90 complaints, but have risen steadily since. In 1987, 341 felony charges were filed throughout Idaho, up 93% from 1986.

While it was anticipated that felonies would decline immediately after the passage of the new law, it was also expected that they would increase again in succeeding years as defendants accumulated multiple DUI charges. The steady increase in felony DUI filings since 1984 seems to confirm that expectation.



AVERAGE MONTHLY DUI CASE FILINGS

More Trials

The number of DUI cases going to trial, which had increased from about 3% in "pre-new law" days, to 12% in December of 1983, appears now to have stabilized once again at about 3% of the dispositions statewide in 1987.

More Jail Time

Defendants convicted of DUI charges continue to receive sentences of incarceration at higher rates than before the new law went into effect. Although some sentences are suspended, 81.2% of the defendants who appeared before a judge for sentencing on misdemeanor DUI charges, were sentenced to jail in 1987, up from 77.7% in 1986. Prior to the new DUI law, only 43% of the defendants appearing before a judge received a sentence including incarceration.

Plea Bargaining

About 67.2% of the DUI defendants pled guilty to DUI charges in 1987, down 10.8% from the 78% average of defendants who pled guilty prior to the new law.

The number of defendants pleading guilty to reduced or amended charges--"plea" or "charge bargains"--appears now to have stabilized at 19% of total disposition, up from 17% in 1986. In Ada County, the number of defendants pleading guilty to a reduced or amended charge has dropped from a high of 42.3% in December of 1983, to an average of 23.3% in 1987.

Cause Uncertain

It is impossible to determine through statistics the exact causes for increases or decreases in DUI complaints. Court caseloads can be influenced by the level of law enforcement activities, which in turn can be influenced by local government budgets. Hopefully, the decrease in DUI cases reported during 1987 shows that tough penalties, increased law enforcement, and public education can combine to take the drinking driver out of the courts, and off Idaho's roads.

TRIAL COURT FILINGS . . .

division averaged 4,751 dispositions per judge.

Of the civil cases which received final judgment in the trial courts in 1987, 22,921 or 44% were disposed of with a trial or court hearing. On the criminal side, 95.1% of these cases were disposed of through pleas or dismissals, while 13,409 or 4.8% received a court or jury trial.

Magistrate Appeals

To speed up the processing of small claims appeals, from the magistrate division to district court, the responsibility for processing small claims appeals was shifted from district judges to lawyer magistrates on July 1, 1985. At the outset, this change did result in some relief to the district bench. However, other types of appeals from the magistrate division to the district court continued to compromise a significant workload. In 1987, the district courts received 545 non-small claims appeals from magistrate decisions, up 20.8% from the 451 non-small claims appeals filed in 1986. District judges disposed of 514 magistrate division appeals in 1987, leaving 318 appeals pending at the end of the year.

Software Selected For Trial Courts

COURT AUTOMATION ON TARGET

Judges and clerks throughout the state may soon have available to them, a uniform set of computer programs which automate the daily operations and recordkeeping activities of the trial courts. A pilot project, now being tested in Minidoka County, could give Idaho the best statewide trial court computer system in the U.S.

Early Leadership

Since the early 1970's, Idaho has been a leader in court automation. A statewide computer information system--CLASS--was one of the first in the nation to produce automated reports on the status of every trial court case. It is this system which today enables Idaho judges to monitor their caseloads and compare their progress against national time standards.

In the mid-1970's, the judiciary automated all of its appellate court operations, producing what remains today one of the best computerized appellate court information systems in the country. But one task was still undone: automating the manual procedures and recordkeeping in the trial courts.

Committee Appointed

In 1986, a special blue ribbon committee consisting of district court clerks, judges, and court administrators was appointed to begin the development of a model trial court information system. Tapped to chair the Committee was Fifth District Judge J. William Hart, whose residence county, Minidoka County, was selected as the pilot site for system implementation.

During 1987, the Committee begin an exhaustive examination of existing software packages. At the heart of the system would be a computerized register of actions. Such a system would be capable of storing and retrieving needed court records; preparing notices to all parties, as well as producing bench warrants, subpoenas and summonses; preparing accounting records on court fees and fines; monitoring outstanding receivables; and preparing personalized calendar management reports for individual judges, including status conference lists, pretrial and trial calendars. In addition, the system would provide statistical reporting to the Supreme Court and disposition reports to law enforcement and licensing agencies, as a by-product.

Multi-State Search

In its search for a software system, the Model Trial Court Information System Steering Committee examined the status of trial court automation in Idaho and 12 other western states. In addition, 10 software systems developed by private firms were considered.

After several site visits and software comparisons, the Steering Committee voted unanimously to pick software developed by National Equipment Corporation (NEC) of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

In the fall of 1987, installation was begun in Minidoka County. Testing of the pilot system will take place in mid-1988, when the Steering Committee and court officials will decide whether to install the new software in other Idaho counties.

HOW TO TELL A COURTROOM RECORDER FROM A MODIFIED DICTATING MACHINE

CONTINUOUS RECORDING
There are no gaps in the record of proceedings thanks to the ACR-7B's dual cassette decks. When one deck nears the end of the tape, the other deck automatically starts recording.

YOU CAN'T MAKE A MISTAKE
When fresh cassettes are inserted, they are automatically rewound and the tape counter is automatically reset. If a cassette jams or breaks, or if a previous recording is detected, an alarm sounds and the stand-by deck immediately begins recording. An alarm also alerts you if a microphone malfunctions.

PRESETTABLE TAPE COUNTER
Insert a partially recorded cassette and immediately resume recording where you left off by simply setting the tape counter.

FOUR CHANNELS
All four channels record simultaneously to capture every voice, even when several speakers talk at once.
Volume for each channel is adjusted automatically, when recording.

AUTOMATIC SEARCH
The ACR-7B's accurate bi-directional search for playback locates a desired position on a previously recorded tape within two digits.

TAMPER PROOF
The ACR-7B is security minded. A key switch locks the cassettes into the recorder and disables the keyboard. As a further deterrent to tampering, a short tone is registered on the tape at the start of each recording.

MICROPHONE VERSATILITY
Use up to eight microphones without buying an external mixer. Also, the ACR-7B has a built-in phantom power supply, allowing you to use either phantom powered (no batteries) electret or dynamic microphones.

GYYR'S ACR-7B VERBATIM RECORDER
The only recorder designed specifically to meet the stringent demands of the courtroom.

Merit Selection Emphasized

MAGISTRATE SELECTION STANDARDS SET

Magistrate Commission members now receive more than just a certificate of appointment when they take on one of the most important jobs in the judiciary. Thanks to a project completed in 1987, Commission members receive an orientation manual covering the full range of their duties, have clear standards for their tasks, and most have attended training programs in their judicial districts.

Selecting Magistrates

Idaho's magistrate judges are appointed by each of the seven Magistrate Commissions, one in each judicial district. Once appointed, magistrates periodically stand for retention election, based on their record as a judge, without an opponent. Magistrates in Idaho hear most of the court cases, and have the greatest contact with the public. Thus, the initial selection of a magistrate judge is critically important in the quality of judicial services provided to the public.

Standards

During 1987, court officials and Magistrate Commission members joined in a statewide effort to adopt standards covering recruitment, selection and evaluation of magistrate judges. The standards guarantee that picking a magistrate will be an open, fair process, designed to seek out and hire the most qualified applicant.

Under the standards, recruitment must include published notices and adequate time for applying--long enough so that lawyers throughout the state would have a reasonable opportunity to submit an application for consideration. Selection standards require extensive background checks, including income tax and Bar discipline records. In addition to public comment, evaluations on each applicant are sought from attorneys with whom they have practiced. Results of evaluations are tabulated by computer, and submitted to each Magistrate Commission member.

Once hired, magistrates are subject to a unique evaluation process. After their first year on the bench, lawyers in their area are polled to determine whether the judge's performance has been satisfactory. Judges are counseled, (or could be removed), if the results of the evaluation are unfavorable. Magistrate judges are the only elected officials in Idaho who undergo such a process.

Manual and Training

The newly adopted standards and other information were published in an orientation manual for Commission members during 1987. Most Commission members also attended regional training seminars, focused on the structure of the judiciary and Commission duties, and work was begun on a training video designed to improve interviewing techniques.

Today, merit selection is the primary emphasis in picking judges. With the improvement in judicial salaries, have come better applicants for magistrate judge positions. It's clear that the quality and dedication of Idaho's Magistrate Commissions has improved as well.

MAGISTRATE COMMISSIONS AT A GLANCE

Membership

Administrative District Judge, chair. One county commissioner from each county in judicial district. Three mayors, two private citizens, two attorneys (non-voting members).

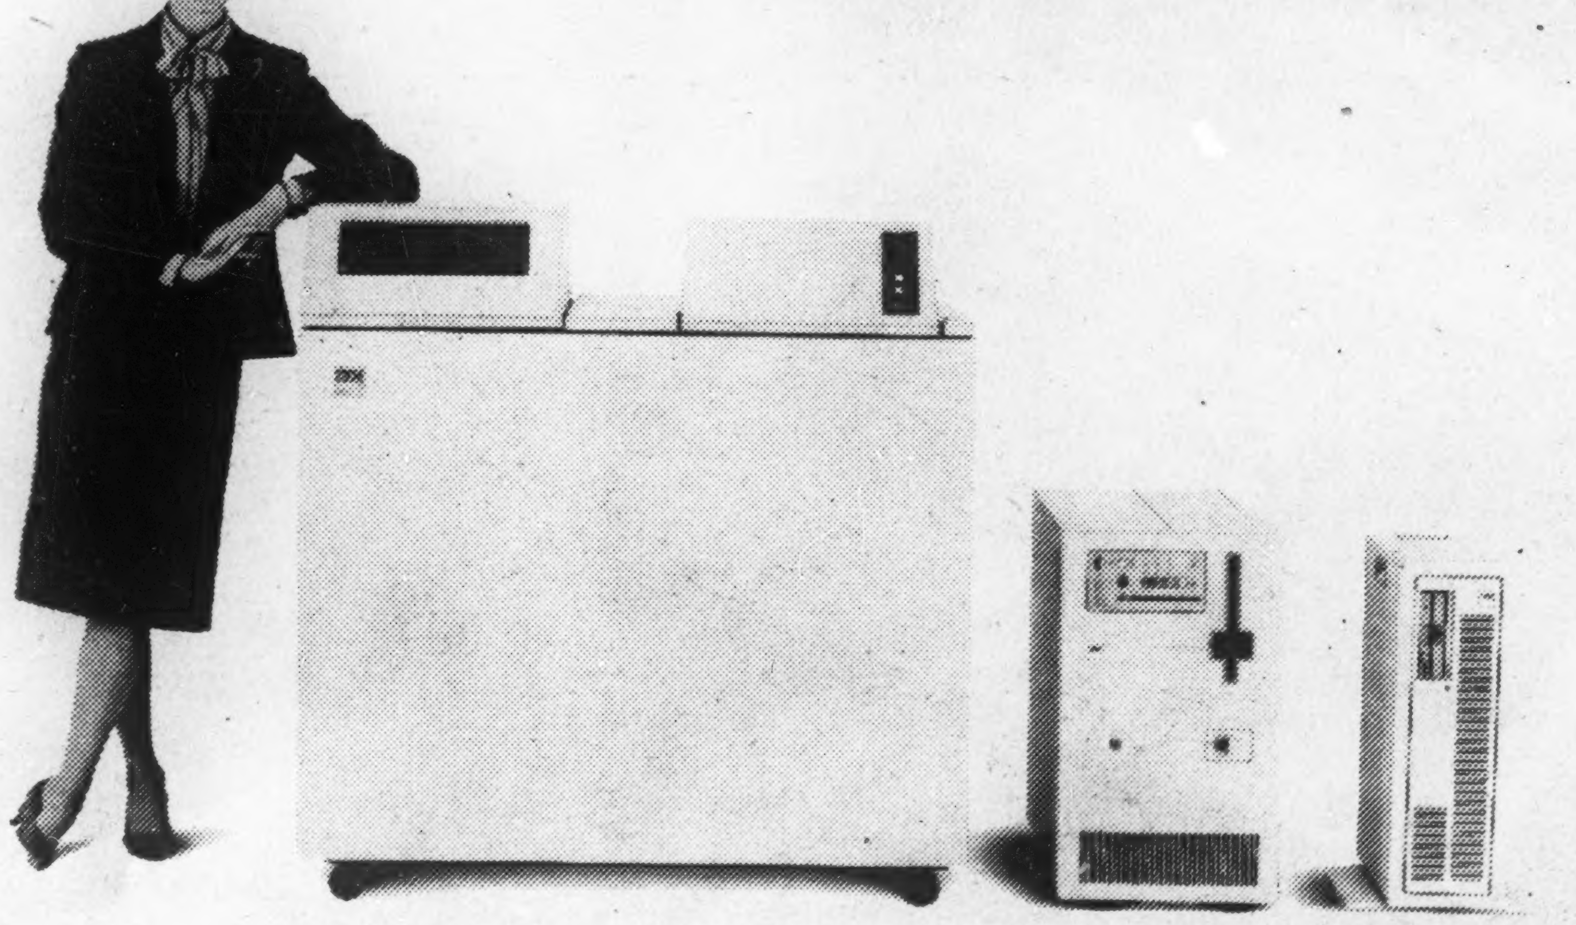
Duties

1. Determine number and location of magistrates (subject to legislative approval.)
2. Appoint magistrates on non-partisan merit basis.
3. Conduct studies for the improvement of justice.

Which System/36 is right for you?



One of the most popular computers in business comes in the most popular business sizes. Small, medium and large.

Each IBM System/36 can be a standalone computer for a small business or corporate department, or part of a distributed network.

IBM System/36 models can support up to 6, 28 or 72 local workstations, including your existing IBM PCs. Because they can handle applications like text processing and business graphics as well as general accounting, any model can become the heart of your office operations.

So choosing the best system is easy. The hard part is deciding which System/36 your business really needs.

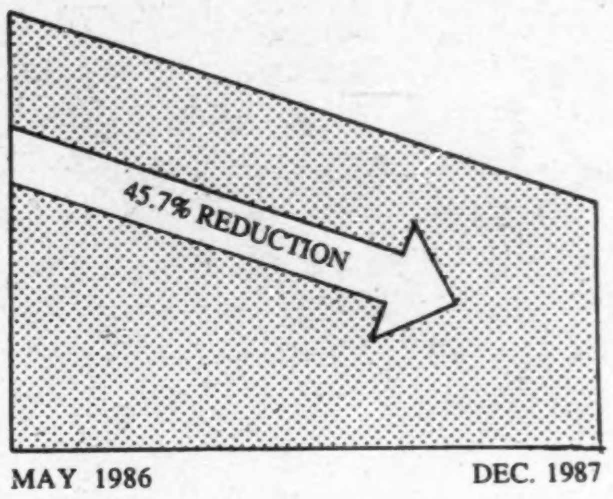
TRIAL COURT DELAY REDUCTION CONTINUES

In spite of record filings in the Idaho trial courts, trial judges around the state continued to reduce the number of cases exceeding the adopted time standards. With cooperation from public and private lawyers, and with the aid of district court clerks and their deputies, district judges and magistrates scheduled status conferences, held pretrial settlement meetings, and backed each other up where multiple cases were set on calendars, in a concerted statewide effort to expedite case processing.



During the past 20 months, trial judges have focused their efforts on identifying and disposing of cases that have exceeded the adopted time standards. Special caseload reports have been developed and distributed to all trial judges that identify cases over the time standards and the progress made in reducing trial court delay has been staggering. Since May 31, 1986, the number of the cases exceeding the Supreme Court's adopted time standards has been reduced by 45.7%.

Major improvements were achieved by both the district court and magistrate division. Overall, district judges have eliminated more than 28% of the cases exceeding adopted time standards, while magistrate judges have eliminated over 48% of their cases which were over the standards.

Clearly, Idaho's trial judges have accepted the challenge of reducing delay in their courts. In so doing, they have taken a leadership role in solving the national problem of unnecessary court delay.

SNAKE RIVER CASE LAUNCHED . . .

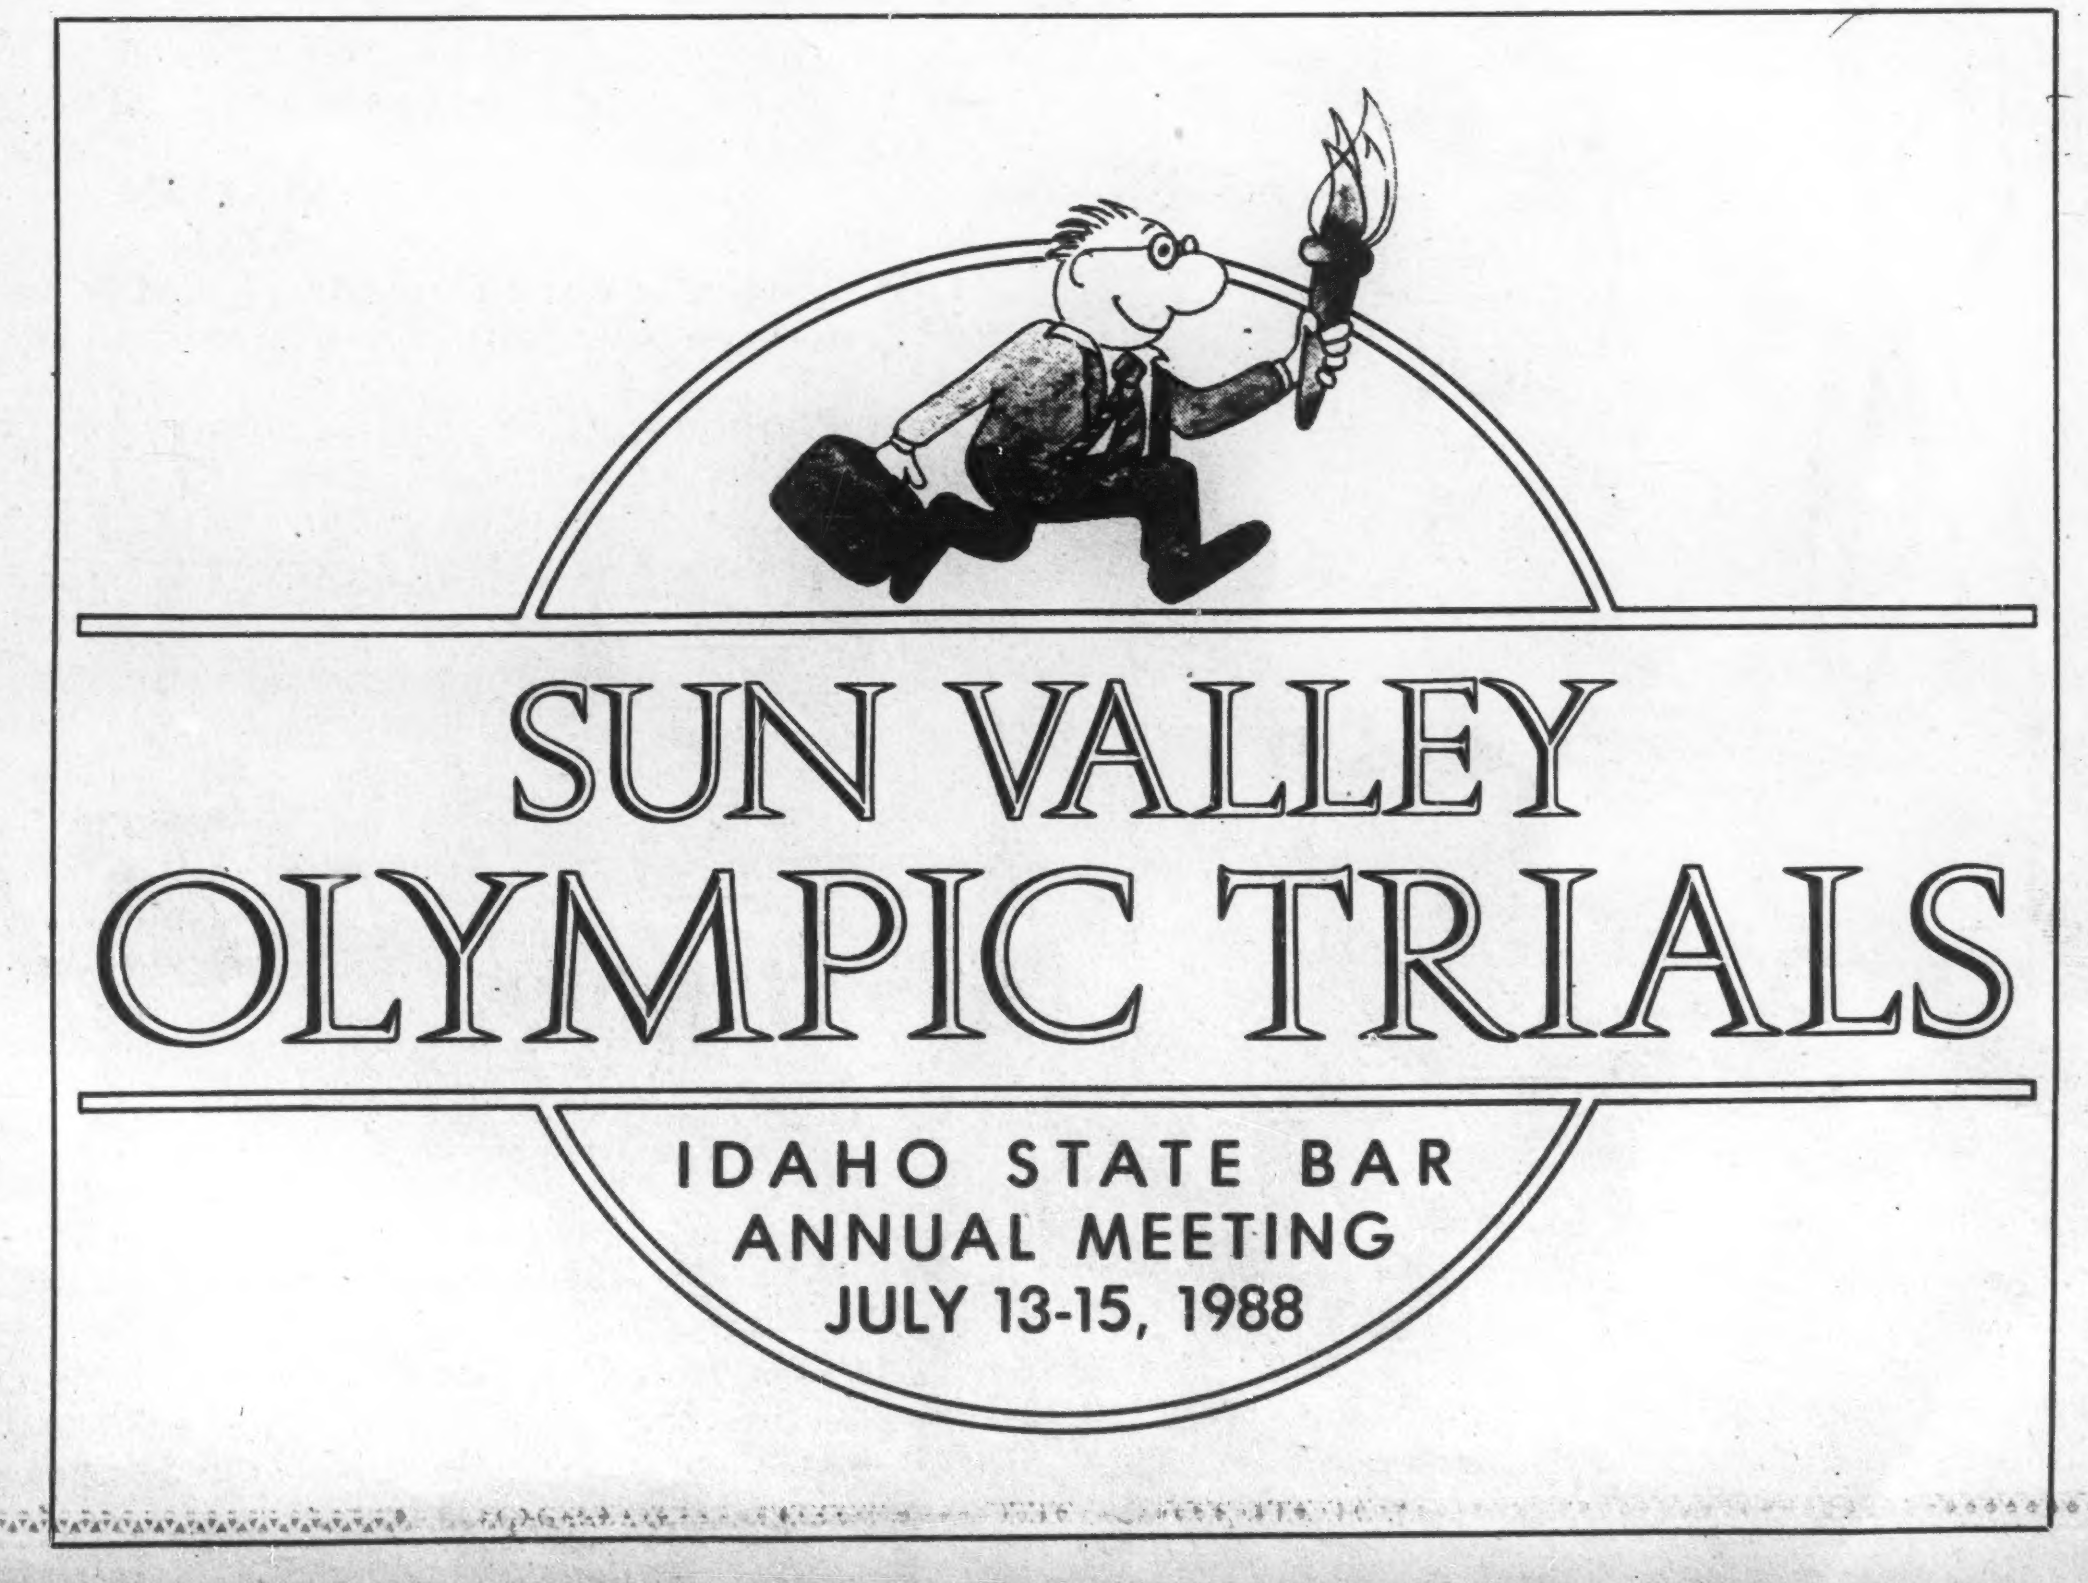
where upstream farm development has competed with downstream hydroelectric power generation use. With the signing of the commencement order, the Snake, which has had such a major impact on the commerce and agriculture of Idaho, now becomes the central focus of a court battle said to be one of the biggest water rights cases in the nation. The judge's order starts a protracted series of legal proceedings which will examine the rights of all water users, including farmers, power generators, the federal government, Indian tribes, sportsmen, and consumers, to determine which have priority claims to the waters in the main and tributary Snake River basins.

Earlier in the year, after the State Department of Water Resources had filed a petition requesting that the action begin, the Supreme Court had picked Judge Hurlbutt to preside over the adjudication and had selected Twin Falls County as the location for the lawsuit. Proceedings in the case, however, may require hearings to be held in numerous locations throughout the state. Some estimates are that as many as 180,000 individual water rights claims may be determined before the case is concluded, necessitating the appointment of numerous special masters, and hundreds (perhaps thousands) of individual claims hearings.

The early stages of the court action will concentrate on giving parties notice, and having claims initially determined by the Department of Water Resources, using every resource from recorded deeds to sophisticated satellite mapping services. The administration of the litigation promises to be at least as difficult as deciding the legal issues, and before it is all over, observers expect a small army of attorneys and water users to have marched through the Twin Falls County Courthouse.

The judge's commencement order already has been appealed in part: Hurlbutt determined that all of the Snake's tributaries should be included in the action, but several groups of water users have petitioned the Supreme Court to be excluded. The Supreme Court has signaled that it wants the case to move quickly, by expediting the appeal. Even in the state's biggest case, the court system wants to avoid unnecessary delay.



COURT SECURITY...

Killeen. "We need to get this resolved," added Sixth District Judge Peter McDermott.

At the request of the late Justice Charles Donaldson and Chief Justice Allan Shepard, a statewide committee of sheriffs and court officials was formed on July 31, 1987, with representatives from the Idaho Prosecuting Attorneys Association and the Attorney General's office. The committee met several times, and made a series of unanimous recommendations to improve court security.

Legislation And Partnership

The committee recommended that the Legislature pass a statute giving courts specific statutory authority to hire security personnel (this legislation was passed by the 1988 Idaho Legislature, and signed into law by Governor Cecil D. Andrus). Further, the committee provided a basic framework for court security: protecting the peace in courthouses should be viewed as a partnership between courts and law enforcement authorities. Service of criminal arrest warrants and prisoner custody outside of court areas is the sole responsibility of the county sheriff, subject to the option to request assistance in an emergency. Courts, however, have the option of conducting certain arrest, security and prisoner custody functions in courthouses, working with sheriffs and county commissioners.

The committee supported specialized training for court security staff at the Police Officers' Standards and Training Academy, and suggested that sheriffs and judges get together to sponsor a statewide seminar on court security. They also recommended that each county should have an advisory court security committee, including judges, sheriffs, district court clerks, county commissioners, prosecutors and public defenders. Finally, the committee urged court officials to adopt hiring and training guidelines for court security personnel throughout the state. Work on these recommendations will continue in 1988.

Standing Committee Created

One recommendation of the Court Security Committee was adopted almost immediately by the Supreme Court: in December, Chief Justice Allan Shepard appointed a Standing Committee on Court Security Issues to advise the judiciary and the Idaho Sheriffs Association on court security issues, and to mediate any disputes which might arise in the future.

Events in 1987 demonstrated two things for the state courts: Idaho can't avoid modernizing security services in state courthouses; and, judges and sheriffs can accomplish more working together than either group can alone.

INTRODUCTION

The Idaho courts have long appreciated the importance of statistical data for measuring past and present case load factors so that an accurate picture of the current situation, historical trends, and future projections can be obtained. In 1973, Idaho's was one of the first state judiciaries to implement a computerized system to collect detailed information on every case, of whatever type, filed in all of its trial courts. The system, called "CLASS" (Case Load Analysis Support System), has been in use continually since 1973 with occasional refinements. Today it stands as one of the best systems of its kind in the nation.

Data are provided by each trial court in the form of daily reports. These undergo scrupulous manual and computerized editing, after which the data are input to the CLASS system on the Supreme Court's computer. From data thus processed, management reports are prepared monthly for the Administrative Office of the Courts, District Administrative Judges, and Trial Court Administrators, District Judges, Magistrate Judges and District Court Clerks. The reports are normally in the hands of the recipients within two weeks from the close of each month. The system also produces statistical information used in the annual reports to the Governor and the State Legislature. Information generated by the CLASS system has become an integral part of the planning, budgeting and daily operational processes of the Idaho courts.

This Appendix to the Idaho Courts Annual Report for 1987 consists primarily of a year-end report generated by the CLASS system, with the exception of the appellate case load information found on the first few pages. These were derived from reports generated by another automated system called "ATS" (Appeal Tracking System), which is also resident on the Supreme Court's computer and which was also developed entirely in-house.

The success of the CLASS system is due in large measure to the cooperation of the trial court judges and their deputy court clerks throughout Idaho. They are its only source of input; and the dedication with which they carry out their CLASS reporting activities is critical to the system's reliability.

The Administrative Office of the Courts is pleased to take this opportunity to thank those judges and clerks for their cooperation and hard work.

*These figures are reflected in the "Added/Transfr" columns of the individual appellate courts' case load reports found on the two following pages.

NOTE: Newly-filed appeals are classified as "unassigned" until they reach the At Issue stage. At this point, each appeal is either retained by the Supreme Court or assigned to the Court of Appeals. Until they are thus distributed they are considered part of the overall appellate case load, but are not counted as part of the case load of either court.

The following chart combines and summarizes, by major case type groups, the case load activities of all three elements: Unassigned cases, Supreme Court cases, and Court of Appeals cases.
